

TOP HAND POSITION LINE GOLF GLOVE AND METHOD FOR USING

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A first golf glove for one hand has an alignment feature that allows a golfer to place his or her first hand in a repeatable, proper position on the grip of a golf club.
Additionally, both the first golf glove and a second golf glove have attachment features and other location features such that a golfer may place and maintain his or her hands in a proper position on the shaft of a golf club. First and second attachment features, one on each glove, allow golfer's to overlay their gloved second hand over 10 their gloved first hand such that they are placed in a proper, relative position while gripping the golf club. The attachment features further allow an attained grip to be maintained throughout a golf swing giving tactile and/or audible feedback in the event of any attachment separation.